

ACUTE ORAL TOXICITY STUDY OF VANGA BHASMA POWDER IN MICE

Shree Dhootapapeshwar Ayurvedic Research Foundation (SDARF), Panvel, Raigad,
Maharashtra-410206.

ABSTRACT

Objective: The aim of present study was to evaluate the acute toxicity of Vanga Bhasma Powder in mice.

Material and Method: In this study the dose of 5.2 mg/20g of Vanga Bhasma Powder was administered orally for 14 days.

Result: The oral administration of Vanga Bhasma Powder at the highest dose (15 times) of Therapeutic dose resulted in no mortalities or evidence of adverse effects implying that Vanga Bhasma Powder is non toxic. Throughout 14 days of the treatment no hyperactivity, depression or abnormal behavior was seen. Also, there was no cyanosis, blanching or Inflammation of nasal tips, paws, eyes, ears, No abnormal secretion from mouth, eyes & nose was seen.

Conclusion: Overall, the results suggest that, the oral administration of Vanga Bhasma Powder did not produce any significant toxic effect in mice

Keywords: Vanga Bhasma Powder, Acute Toxicity, body weight, depression etc.
